AFFAIRS IN SAMOA PEACEFUL AND QUIET.

Sharp Shock of Earthquake Early September First.

LATEST OFFICIAL NEWS NOTES.

THE RETIREMENT OF THE FORMER BRITISH CONSUL, MR. H. HUNTER, C. M. G.

Changes in Collector of Customs—Road Building By Germans—Review of Samoan Happenings.

The Samoan Herald says a sharp shock of earthquake occurred about ten minutes past 2 o'clock on the morning of September 1.

Mr. Hamilton Hunter, C. M. G., the acting British consul at Samoa, has left the islands for England. Mr. Hunter was very popular and was given a farewell benefit.

J. B. Hay, who has held the position of collector of customs for the last ten years under the three treaty powers, has handed over his office to his successor, Mr. Reinhardt. Mr. Hay was a popular official.

The Herald says that quite a gloom was cast over the community on the arrival of news that Mr. Oskar Schluter had died at Halberstadt, Germany, on the 9th of July last. The deceased was born at Hanover, Germany, on August 3, 1856, and came to Samoa in 1879, joined the German government service here in 1882 as secretary of the German consulate, and remained in the service until 1896, when he retired through ill-health. In 1900 he again joined the service as secretary to the Imperial court judge, but being attacked by a serious complaint, retired and left for Germany, where he underwent an operation, but in spite of all skill he succumbed.

The Herald contains a notice calling on all Germans and those under German protection, who have neglected to forward their claims for losses sustained during the late disturbances, to do so at once.

The opening of the new Wesleyan Methodist church took place on Wednesday, September 12 by the Rev. Dr. Brown of Sydney. The feast to celebrate the opening was held at Mullins the following day, Thursday.

London mission steamship John Williams, 370 tons, arrived on Sunday afternoon from Sydney, via Rarotonga, Auckland, Rarotonga and Niue. She left Sydney in April last, and not being allowed pratique at Rarotonga, sailed for Auckland, where she was quarantined owing to having had some deaths of natives while on the passage from Rarotonga. It turned out the deaths resulted from bronchitis, and after the ship was released from quarantine, having replenished her stores, she left for Rarotonga on her regular trip. There was nothing of moment to report from any of the places visited. She left again on Monday for Sydney, via Pago Pago.

The Samoan Herald says the government is doing some needed road building, among them being "the road to Saluafata, which will be made fifteen feet wide and will tap a quantity of land along the coast; the road through the center of the island to Falealili, which will be cleared for thirty feet and a track formed of fifteen feet, which will tap a large quantity of land that is already in the hands of settlers, who, owing to the want of a road, have been unable to utilize it; and the road to Lanutoo, which will be an immense benefit to a large number who have lately purchased blocks of land near Lanutoo; and the road to Mulifanua, which has been formed before but had been allowed to get into bad order owing to the state of native affairs. It also is the intention of the government to complete many of the roads which have been partly finished within the municipality, and upon which a large amount of money has lately been spent in improvements."

The Samoan government is taking steps to improve the quality and mode of dealing in copra. "It has been asserted that the copra which is exported from here," says the Herald, "is the worst in the whole of the Pacific. This may be so, but it has also been proved that the copra which is exported from here gives a greater percentage of oil than any other in the Pacific, and if this can be maintained it goes to prove distinctly that it is the fault in making it that our copra fails to bring the price which we are justly entitled to receive. This being the case, we agree with the governor's intention to endeavor to improve the quality." The Herald concludes that the copra should be graded and that the manner of trading in it should be supervised.

The governor has appointed the following gentlemen to be members of his council: Messrs. R. H. Carruthers, W. C. Dean, P. C. Fabricius, H. Gebauer, O. Riedel, M. Rosenberg, H. Schmidt. The council elected as chairman Mr. Otto Riedel.

Here is a ruling by the Imperial governor, the last paragraph of which may in a measure explain why German government is so unpopular. A case having occurred in which doubt arose as to the meaning of the word "native" as used in paragraph three of the government ordinance dated 1st March, 1900, I now make known as follows: "1. Those persons who reside in the colony not being natives are called foreigners."

"2. In lawful marriages between foreigners and natives the wife is subject to the same jurisdiction as the husband.

"3. The offspring of such marriages, commonly called half-castes, are subject to the same jurisdiction as their fathers.

"4. The Imperial governor and the Imperial judge reserve to themselves respectively the right of deciding from case to case whether those half-castes who are the illegitimate offspring of foreigners and natives shall be considered by the court to be foreigners or natives. Such decision will be based on their mode of living or their general conduct."

THEIR RIGHTS PROTECTED.

Secretary Hay States Government's Position to Alaska Miners.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 6.—The miners of the Porcupine district, Alaska, have received from Secretary of State Hay definite assurances that "this government foregoes no part of its rights and power to protect its citizens in the Porcupine creek region, whether they be temporarily within American or British jurisdiction, in the full enjoyment of all rights and privileges which they had before the modus vivendi was concluded, and to see that their freedom of access and exit with their goods is not materially impeded."

This announcement from Mr. Hay is the result of a petition to President McKinley from 140 American miners in the Porcupine country, who complained of being brought within the territory and under the laws of the Dominion of Canada, and especially protested against the location of the boundary line along the Kiehini river, by which American miners were forced to enter British territory in carrying supplies to their camps. The reply of Secretary Hay discusses the whole proposition at considerable length. He assures the miners that the modus vivendi is merely a temporary proposition to be abrogated without prejudice to either party when a permanent settlement of the boundary dispute is decided upon; that in the meantime the rights of all miners temporarily brought within the Canadian control will be religiously protected, and that miners desiring to carry goods through the disputed territory will be permitted to do so without unjust interference from the Canadian customs officials.
